

The Spring Festival 大写规范

The spring festival.

The Spring Festival is the most important day of a year. At this day, all people bid farewell to the old and usher in the new. It is not only a year to past, but also a new start.

Last Spring Festival left the deepest impression on me. At the yesterday of that day. My grandparents were picked up to my home by my parents, then we went out and bought many fireworks. As evening approached, my mother was good at cooking. She made many delicious dishes. At that evening, we thought that meal was the most delicious. After that, my grandparents gave me some lucky money. During the Spring Festival, we visited other relatives, with them went hiking, set off fireworks.

At night, we recounted experiences of the year together. After that Spring Festival, I felt the importance of relatives. At the same time, I got much love between family ties. So I think Spring Festival is the emotional bond between family members who haven't seen each other for years, the transmission line of love between family members. So I think Spring Festival is the most important day of a year.

语言准确性

1. 谓语动词缺失;
2. 主体段, 时态不统一;
3. 介词, at 跟“点”, 瞬间短; on 跟“天”, 具体选;

语言丰富性

定语从句, As evening approached, my mother who is really good at cooking started to prepare dinner.

篇章结构性

开头: 最重要的节日(为什么?) 辞旧迎新, 岁月更替→我会以为你要写时光流逝?!

主体: 非常好运用了时间标志词, 按照时间顺序推进故事。

去年的春节

除夕那天接爷爷奶奶, 买炮; →妈妈擅长做饭, 丰盛大餐; →拿到压岁钱; →走访亲戚;

结尾: 家庭成员的重要性, 彼此之间的爱; →春节是最重要的节日。

开头并没有很好暗示后文的走向, 主体段对成员间爱的主题不够突出;

内容思想性

开头和结尾都能很好的引申出一个深刻的思想, 但是两者并没有有效的形成合力, 取其一, 将使得文章更加主题突出。参考示例范文。

In China, the Spring Festival is the most important festival for family members to reunite no matter how far they are from their hometowns. On New Year's Eve, people stay together to bid farewell to the old and usher in the new while watching TV programs, enjoying tasty dishes and sharing interesting stories that happened during the past year.

Last Spring Festival left the deepest impression on me. On New Year's Eve, as usual, the whole family gathered at my grandparents' home in the village where we were born and regard it as our forever home. When my family arrived, the living room was already full of relatives, who were talking and laughing with each other. My eldest uncle, who was really good at cooking, had already started preparing dinner, and both my mother and aunt helped him. This was because the dinner was the most important meal of the year and nearly twenty people would join in it. While other adults were busy hanging up the couplets and pasting paper-cuts, kids were the happiest because they could eat snacks and candies, and play games with each other. As evening approached and the table was set, people sat around the table, exchanged good wishes, gave lucky money to the kids, and watched the Spring Festival Gala on TV.

Every year, after the Spring Festival, not only is the relationship among family members strengthened, but it also reminds us of the importance of family. No matter where you go or what you do, one thing is for sure that family will always be there for you.